Research Papers

Use of stable isotopes to quantify flows between the Everglades and urban areas in Miami-Dade County Florida
W. M. Wilcox, H. M. Solo-Gabriele and L. O. Sternberg 1
Hydrogeology of Palm Valley, central Australia; a Pleistocene flora refuge?
J. D. H. Wischusen, L. K. Fifield and R. G. Cresswell. 20
Characterizing the hydrogeology of a complex clay-rich aquitard system using detailed vertical profiles of the stable isotopes of water
M. J. Hendry, C. J. Kelln, L. I. Wassenaar and J. Shaw. 47
Hydrologic uncertainty processor for probabilistic stage transition forecasting
R. Krzysztofowicz and C. J. Maranzano 57
The dynamic form of rainwater lenses in drained fens
P. P. Schot, S. C. Dekker and A. Poot 74
In situ measurement of soil moisture: a comparison of techniques
J. P. Walker, G. R. Willgoose and J. D. Kalma 85
Scale effect in USLE and WEPP application for soil erosion computation from three Sicilian basins
E. Amore, C. Modica, M. A. Nearing and V. C. Santoro 100
Multi-variable mixing cell model as a calibration and validation tool for hydrogeologic groundwater modeling
O. Dahan, D. McGraw, E. Adar, G. Pohll, B. Bohm and J. Thomas 115
Rainfall–runoff-soil and nutrient loss relationships for plot size areas of bhetagad watershed in Central Himalaya, India
B. P. Kothyari, P. K. Verma, B. K. Joshi and U. C. Kothyari. 137
Application of the coupled MIKE SHE/MIKE 11 modelling system to a lowland wet grassland in southeast England
J. R. Thompson, H. R. Sørenson, H. Gavin and A. Refsgaard 151
Behaviour of fine suspended sediment at the North passage of the Changjiang Estuary, China
Z. Shi 180
Aquifer vulnerability to pesticide pollution—combining soil, land-use and aquifer properties with molecular descriptors
F. Worrall and D. W. Kolpin 191
Re-scaling the topographic index to improve the representation of physical processes in catchment models
R. Ibbitt and R. Woods 205
Infiltration excess at the Horton Hydrology Laboratory (or not?)
K. Beven. 219
Numerical simulation of organic carbon, nitrate, and nitrogen isotope behavior during denitrification in a riparian zone
D. J. Z. Chen and K. T. B. MacQuarrie 235
Simulating the spatio-temporal variability of streamflow response to climate change scenarios in a mesoscale basin
G. Drogue, L. Pfister, T. Leviandier, A. El Idrissi, J.-F. Iffly, P. Matgen, J. Humbert and L. Hoffmann 255
On the utility of operational precipitation forecasts to served as input for streamflow forecasting
F. Habets, P. LeMoigne and J. Noilhan. 270
Sensitivity of stream–aquifer seepage to spatial variability of the saturated hydraulic conductivity of the aquifer
M. P. Bruen and Y. Z. Osman 289
